Transfer INTO BenefitWallet

Account Holder Instructions

Complete this form by entering the "Account Holder Information" below, and provide this first page to your current HSA trustee or custodian to initiate a trustee-to-trustee transfer of funds from an existing Health Savings Account (HSA) or Archer Medical Savings Account into a BenefitWallet HSA. You should always check with your current trustee/custodian to determine if they need any additional information to initiate the transfer. Your current trustee/custodian can send funds to The Bank of New York Mellon via check. The transfer can only be processed if your account is open.

General Information

There are two ways to move funds from an existing HSA Account into a BenefitWallet Account:

- A Rollover
- A Trustee-to-Trustee Transfer

Note: Funds cannot be moved into a Health Savings Account directly from 401(k), 403(b) or 457 plans.

Are there differences between a rollover and a trustee-to-trustee transfer into a BenefitWallet Account?

	Rollover	Trustee-to-Trustee Transfer
Generally	A rollover involves the deposit of funds by you into a BenefitWallet Account via a check written by you from your existing HSA or a personal check. The custodian/trustee of your existing account is not involved in a rollover transaction.	A trustee-trustee-transfer involves the direct movement of funds from your existing HSA by the trustee of that HSA via check into your BenefitWallet Account.
Permitted Frequency	One rollover per year per HSA	Unlimited
Tax Reporting	The Bank of New York Mellon will report the rollover on IRS form 5498-SA. Your current trustee is not required to report the rollover but will report the distribution on Form 1099-SA.	None required
Fees	The Bank of New York Mellon does not charge a fee. Your current trustee may charge a fee.	The Bank of New York Mellon does not charge a fee. Your current trustee may charge a fee.
